Local Happenings.

Tomatoes are now on sale.

Some of the maples are budding.

Raleigh greatly needs an auditorium.

Some of the new street cars were tested yesterday.

The roof has been put on the Plate ice factory.

Yesterday's weather would have done credit to April.

Work on the new depot is going ahead. The tower is rising rapidly.

The Supreme court will this afternoon file the first opinions during the present term.

The last issue of the Sunny South contains a portrait of Governor Holt and a large picture of the capital, with Washington statue in the foreground.

At the old cemetery there is a quaint old tombstone with these words below the remainder of the inscription: "Died a Flint." Can any one tell what that means?

Three sheriffs yesterday completed their tax settlements, these being R. R. Ross, Randolph, $10,618.04; R. O. Pitman, Robeson, $11,941.07; J. J. Eggleston, Gaston, $3,412.13.

Maj. Finger says he is receiving many favorable responses to his circular letter in regard to the exhibit at the World's Fair illustrative of the public and other schools in North Carolina.

It is a queer bit of history which might be written of the Raleigh firemen fifty years ago. Then there was a company of them, drawn by lot, usually about thirty, for each year. They had an engine which nowadays would adorn any museum.

The old cemetery needs attention. Why cannot grass be grown there? It is an untidy sort of place. Very few people go there. It would be far better, of course, if all the bodies were removed to Oakwood, but that is quite in the future. Meanwhile the case might be kept with tender care.

The removal of the North State back to Greensboro necessitates the departure of the clever business manager, Mr. C. F. Crutchfield, from Raleigh. In his short stay in our city he had made a number of friends who regret that he is not to be a permanent addition to our population.

Raleigh has many bicyclists, but it is claimed that Wilmington has more (128) than any place in the State. There are six lady members of the league there. James L. Yopp is head of the league of wheelmen in North Carolina. A race track will be built and the first meeting of the North Carolina division will be held there during the summer.

The Chapel Hill Glee Club will give another entertainment at Metropolitan Hall on Saturday night for the benefit of St. Mary's Guild of the Church of the Good Shepherd. The gentlemen will be assisted by several young ladies of Raleigh—our best talent—and the public may look out for something real good. The full programme will be printed later.

There is a good stand of wheat and the plants look well.

The railways are as yet handling very small quantities of fertilizers.

The matter is being discussed as to whether there shall be one or two Democratic state conventions this year.

Mr. William Russ, the veteran drummer, known of all men, will locate here as what may be termed a fixed fact, becoming general agent for the Kentucky Mutual life insurance company.

There are now ten patients in St. John's hospital. Money is needed by the institution. It is certainly very deplorable that the hospital has to exist in what may be termed such an uncertain fashion.

An announcement of the summer course in Plane Trigonometry shows that Mr. James Lee Lorce, A. M., formerly of the University at Chapel Hill, is an instructor and is the person to whom application must be made for information.

Capt. Charles M. Roberts, keeper of the Capitol, yesterday packed and shipped several large boxes to the orphan asylums at Oxford and Thomasville, the boxes containing many hundreds of yards of the black and white calico used in decorating the executive mansion and capital after the deaths of Col. Saunders and Gov. Fowle. The cloth is all in good condition and will be useful.

It will be a very little while before Raleigh is on a great through line North and South, and but few people appear to realize it. Raleigh has all these years been "off the main line," and hence it is so few know what the Seaboard Air-Line will do for them. With effort many Northern people can be induced to stop here. Raleigh ought to have, and if it is people do what they should do, will have a great many such visitors.

Years ago a family by the name of Puttick lived here. Thereby hangs a tale. Years ago the Putticks, whose father came as one of the stone cutters of the capitol, left and one of them, James, died in Plaquemine, La. There was a Miss Mary Puttick, and for her a Raleigh lawyer is now looking. If she can be found she will get a lot of money, now in London. Usually it is quite the other way; it is easy to find heirs but hard to find the unclaimed fortune. There is in the present case quite a lot of money; 400,000 pounds.

A SOCIAL EVENT.

The Reception to Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith.

There was a notable assemblage of people prominent in political, social and business life last evening at the home of Mrs. W. N. H. Smith, at the reception which she gave in compliment to her talented son, Ed. Chambers Smith, Esq., and his beautiful bride. The attendance was large and some very handsome toilets were seen. Mrs. Smith, who is justly esteemed here, was a most gracious hostess. Miss Mildred Badger assisted in receiving. The house was tastefully decorated, ivy being liberally used. The dining room was dainty and a collation was served in admirable style by Mrs. W. W. Smith, Mrs. A. W. Haywood, Mrs. Minnie Bagley, Mrs. Louis Thorpe, Misses Mabel Hale, B. tie Harris, Mary Davis, Lily Young, Janet Badger and Kate Badger. The house was crowded for two or three hours, and all the visitors were made thoroughly at home. Mr. Smith is very prominent in a social way as well as politically, and his wife is one of the most attractive ladies in the State. Many of the attendants at the reception afterwards went to the German at the assembly room of the Capital club.

There will be a meeting of the "Isabella" Circle of the King's Daughters this afternoon at the usual place at 4:30 o'clock. All the members are urgently requested to be present as there are several subjects of great importance to be brought before the meeting.

The pleasant party of visitors from Wilmington, the guests of Col. and Mrs. Kenan, have enjoyed their stay here. Yesterday evening they attended the reception given in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith, and then went to a supper at Maj. R. S. Tucker's, thence to a German given in compliment to them by the Capital club at its assembly room. Of the party were Misses Daniel, Cumming and Draper and Misses Mary Lily, Jessie and Bessie Kenan. The party leaves for home this afternoon.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Mr. Marion Butler goes to the St. Louis convention as a delegate from the State at large.

Associate Justice Davis, was yesterday upon the supreme court bench for the first time this term.

Dr. Sumner McBee, who two weeks ago was stricken by paralysis here, will probably be taken to his home at Lincolnton this week.

Rev. P. H. Massey, of Chatham, is to be the representative of the fifth district at the St. Louis convention.

It is authoritatively denied that Hon. E. G. Reade is to resign as president of the National bank of Raleigh, or that Chief Justice Merrimon will resign to succeed him.

Maj. R. W. Harris, of Henderson, died suddenly at Charleston, S. C., last Saturday. He was on his way to Florida, accompanied by his nephew, Mr. George B. Harris. Yesterday his remains were taken back to Henderson.

The new chief of Durham's fire department, Mr. Walter Bradsher, is working hard to secure, if possible, a reduction in the rates of insurance at that place.

It is probable that Rev. H. W. Battle, of Wilson, will visit the members of the First Baptist church at Durham before rendering his decision in regard to the call extended to him by that church.

A very pleasant reception was given at the house of General James D. Glenn in Greensboro Saturday evening, complimentary to Rev. Mr. Stickney, the new pastor of St. Andrew's church.

Maj. Walker Taylor of Wilmington was here yesterday afternoon on his way to Oxford to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the Oxford land and improvement company. He represents a number of the Wilmington stockholders.

Among yesterday's arrivals at the Yarbore were John W. Graham, Hillsboro; E. M. Parkinson, Charlotte; D. W. C. Benbow, Greensboro; R. L. Cheatham, Durham; Donnel Gilliam, Tarboro; W. H. S. Burgwyn, Henderson; L. C. Edwards, Oxford; T. H. Best, N. C.; R. S. Young, Concord.

Inquiry was made yesterday afternoon as to Mrs. Sanderlin's condition and it was learned that it showed improvement. She had rested better Sunday night. As yesterday marked the critical period of her disease, the outlook of her recovery is now hopeful.

Mr. Augustus Strouse, whose father was one of the original settlers of Goldsboro and who conducted business in that town for fourteen years, was in Raleigh yesterday. Mr. Strouse is now a citizen of the great metropolis, but regards himself a North Carolinian.

Miss Kate Stedman, daughter of Hon. C. M. Stedman, of Asheville, assisted Miss Quay receive on the occasion of her introduction into society at Washington. It was a brilliant affair and Senator Quay's elegant residence was thronged from 9 p. m. till 12.

There will be a meeting of the "Isabella" Circle of the King's Daughters this afternoon at the usual place at 4:30 o'clock. All the members are urgently requested to be present as there are several subjects of great importance to be brought before the meeting.

Mr. J. C. Pool, of Auburn, was in Raleigh yesterday. He lost his mother, Mrs. Mary Pool, who died last Friday. She was the wife of Mr. Hardy Pool and they had been married over fifty years. She had for many years been a member of the Baptist church.

Mr. J. F. Johnson, delegate from the 6th district, to the big meeting called at St. Louis to consider what action the farmers and labor organizations will take in politics this year, was here yesterday. He is an enthusiastic Allianceman and Democrat and is in harmony with the conservative element in the Alliance, which opposes independent party action.

Everybody who knows Mr. I. S. D. Sauls, of Goldsboro, whose loss by the burning of his extensive lumber interests forced an assignment, regrets his misfortune. His failure is a public calamity. He furnished employment to many people who will now find it hard to get other work. He is an honorable, upright man with no suspicion of a blot upon his business career or his assignment.

Sold by John Y. MacRae.

A telegram was sent from Wilmington last week to the pilots' association at Southport, asking them to meet the steam yacht Oneida and pilot her over the bar. Some of the knowing ones at Southport immediately jumped to the conclusion that the yacht was owned by Mr. H. M. Flagler, that he was coming to Wilmington to meet her; that Grover Cleveland would be with him and that a large hunting party and a big frolic would result. The Oneida, the Review says, is owned by Mr. Benedict, and not by Mr. Flagler, and Mr. Cleveland is not expected to be of the party. Mr. Benedict is going South and will board his yacht here.
